ABOUT OUR OCCUPATIONAL MEDICINE PROVIDERS:

Dr. Gellrick in her own words:

"Exempla and this clinic are community-service based, and we strive to provide the highest quality of service and care for our patients and employers whether it be workman's compensation, rehabilitation, or corporate services. Our partnership with our employers is based on communication, team effort with our Exempla specialists, and our years of experience in occupational medicine."

Dr. Caroline Gellrick's area of specialty is occupational medicine, where she is Level II Accredited with the Colorado Department of Labor Division of Workers' Compensation. Dr. Gellrick received her medical degree from the University of Colorado Health Sciences Center and completed her residency at Exempla Saint Joseph Hospital, where she served as Chief Resident. Dr. Gellrick also served in the US Army Reserve Medical Corps for 8 years. She is also certified in advanced trauma life support systems and advanced cardiac life support.

Dr. Plotkin in his own words:

"I have enjoyed my work in Occupational Medicine as it has elements of primary care but also has significant specialization. Occupational Medicine practice requires the integration of many relationships to achieve the overall goal of restoring and maintaining health of working people. After eighteen years of occupational medicine practice I find it to still be a challenging and rewarding field."

Dr. Andrew Plotkin received his medical degree from Rush Medical College in Chicago, Illinois and completed his residency at the University of Colorado at Denver in Internal Medicine. Dr. Plotkin is Level II Accredited with the Colorado Department of Labor Division of Workers' Compensation and is a member of the American College of Occupational and Environmental Medicine, as well as the Rocky Mountain Academy of Occupational and Environmental Medicine.

Dr. Goldman in his own words:

"Exempla Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation offers a unique perspective in providing patients and their referral sources a sophisticated but common sense approach to determining which medical resources offer the greatest chance to promote the best overall quality of life and minimize suffering for any given patient."

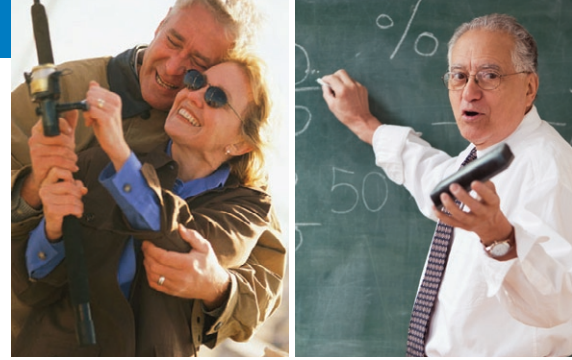

Dr. Bart Goldman's clinical experience includes physical medicine, rehabilitation, occupational health and complimentary and lifestyle medicine, as well as clinical experience in functionally oriented electrodiagnosis. Dr. Goldman received his medical degree from the Hahnemann University Hospital and Medical College in Philadelphia, PA and completed both his internship and residency at Temple University Hospital in Philadelphia. Dr. Goldman is Level II accredited with the Colorado Department of Labor Division of Workers' Compensation. He is a contributing editor and standing faculty member for the Level II accreditation curriculum sponsored by the Colorado Division of Workers' Compensation.
